PRICE TWO CENTS

JONES GETS LIFE FOR MURDER OF WILLIAM VOECK

Pleads Guilty and Weeps as Judge Reed Pronounces Sentence

COURT RECOMMENDS LENIENCY

Jones Repeats His Story of the Crime to Judge; Says He Is Sorry

MUST SPEND MAY 2 IN SOLITARY

Day of Crime Each Year to Be Passed in Lonely Confinement

Walter Jones must spend the rest of his life in the state prison at Waupun.

This is the satisfaction society demanded in the circuit court room this afternoon for the murder of William Voeck at West Salem the night of May 2. He changed his plea to guilty when arraigned.

Jones wept bitterly when Judge Reed of Wausau, pronounced his sentence. The scene was a dramatic one. The man, broken by a month and a half in the county jail, thin, pale and white and deserted by his one-time wife and parents, presented a pathetic sight. Women in the court room wept and as the court pronounced the sentence there was a break in his voice.

"Have you anything to say?" asked the judge.

"Only that I am sorry," declared Jones.

"Can you explain now how it happened?" asked Judge Reed.

Repeats His Story

Jones repeated his story of the murder; how he feared a mob and gave a detailed account of the shooting.

"I only want to add that I did not intend to kill him," the murderer said. "I was afraid. I had heard that if I came back to West Salem I would be mobbed and when I saw him coming I was afraid. But I did not intend to kill him. Not that."

"This case," said the court, "is a very sad one for all concerned. You are married and have children, Mr. Jones."

"Yes," the man said.

"And Voeck was married, was he not?"

"Yes," again.

"It is no easy task for a court to impose a term upon a man, but it is a horrible thought—the thought of killing a man of taking the life of a fellow citizen. Society demands protection in cases of this nature."

"The court has no choice in this case. The law is laid down."

The Sentence

"You are charged with murder in the first degree. You have changed your plea from not guilty to guilty."

"You are guilty of murder in the first degree."

"This court therefore orders that you spend, in the state prison, at Waupun, the remainder of your natural life."

"On the second day of May, of each year of your term you shall spend in solitary confinement. (It was on May 2 that Jones committed the murder.)"

"You have been a good citizen, of good habits. You have children, father and mother. You are therefore entitled to some consideration from the state. I trust that the time will come when you will receive that consideration."

"A time may come when the state will see fit to give you again your liberty. May you then pay society for the crime which you have committed; care for your children and lead an upright life."

Staggered to Chair

Jones staggered back to his chair, and with his handkerchief to his eyes sobbed like a child.

Sheriff Webber and Deputy Ritter fastened the handcuffs on. Through the staring, gaping crowd he was hurried to the office of the sheriff in the basement.

The court room was quickly cleared. Minor matters occupied the attention of the judge.

A. C. Wolfe, attorney for Jones, and District Attorney Law were in conference before the trial started. It was known that Jones would change his plea to that of guilty.

Law Asks Mercy

Mr. Wolfe addressed the court, and said that considering the circumstances a defense was not possible. "The trial would have resulted in a conviction," he said.

The attorney reviewed the case and asked that mercy be shown the broken man.

The district attorney agreed with Mr. Wolfe, and also stated that he hoped that at some times Jones would be permitted to have his liberty again.

HOME COMING WEEK ON THREE WEEKS FROM TODAY

Three weeks from today Homecoming week will be on. This week, and the next, the committees will bend every effort towards rounding affairs into final satisfactory shape. The decorations on Main street, as well as all throughout the business section, have been put up. The flowers are especially attractive.

Within the week the strings of lights will be placed from the river to the end of the White Way, if the plans of the decoration committee are carried out.

The church reunions, which have been planned by many of the religious organizations, are to be a feature of the first Sunday.

Hundreds and thousands will be in the city, coming "home" from all parts of the country. Here is another of the homecoming letters:

"Pittsburg, Pa.
"Homecoming Committee:
"We are in receipt of notice of your homecoming celebration and are greatly pleased to be so remembered.

"Since giving up our residence in La Crosse we have known a number of places as home, but none is remembered with quite the same feeling as La Crosse.

"I am very sure that Mrs. Code, the children and myself would be very much gratified if it were possible to make a visit to the old home at this time, but it does not seem likely that we will be enabled to do so. The proposed celebration is, however, some time in the future, and should our situation at that time make it possible, be assured that we will not miss the opportunity.

"Thanking you for your kindness in placing us on your invitation list, and with very best regards, I am,

"Very truly yours,
"J. G. CODE."

MOTORCYCLES AND AUTO CRASH AND TWO ARE INJURED

Thomas Steinlein and Walter Koch in Lutheran Hospital Result of Collision Sunday Night

AUTOIST DISCLAIMS ALL BLAME

Rollie Sheppard Who Drove Dietz Car Says He Was on Right Side of Road and Went Into Ditch

SECOND MOTOR HITS STEINLEIN

Man Following Could Not Stop and Third Prevented Pileup by Going Entirely Off the Road

Two men are in the Lutheran hospital, seriously injured, the result of a collision between motorcycles and an automobile on the Mormon Coulee road near midnight Sunday.

The near-fatal accident occurred on the brow of the hill this side of Miller's saloon and about 350 feet from the top of the hill.

Second Accident

Steinlein had but recently recovered from a motorcycle accident. He collided, head on, with a street car at Fourth and Jay streets but a short time ago. He was seriously injured.

this side of the spot where John Mitchell, truck gardener, was hit and killed by a motorcycle but a few weeks ago.

The injured men were on motorcycles. They are:

THOMAS STEINLEIN, aged 32, 818 Adams street.

WALTER KOCH, aged 21, 921 Denton street.

Stories of the accident vary, requests for an interview with either of the injured men being refused at the Lutheran hospital.

Hollie Sheppard, driver of the automobile, without hesitancy, told his version of the affair.

Sheppard's Story

He maintained that he was going away from the city and was following the right side of the road.

The motorcycles, he claimed, were coming towards town and were on the wrong side of the road. He maintained that they made no attempt to turn out, that he swung his car until the right wheels were off of the road but that despite this precaution the foremost machine, driven by Steinlein, crashed into the left side of his car.

He claims that a second machine, driven by Koch, was coming behind at so great a rate of speed that it ran over Steinlein and his machine and was "ditched."

Third Machine Off

A third machine, said to have been driven by E. A. Duke, a clothing salesman, narrowly missed the two wrecked motorcycles and plunged into the ditch to the right of the road.

The left running board and fender of the automobile was torn off. The motorcycles, especially that of Steinlein, were badly wrecked.

The injured men were placed in the automobile of Sheppard and rushed to the Lutheran hospital.

Condition Unknown

Despite the fact that they were taken there near midnight last night, attempts this afternoon to learn their injuries were futile.

"Their wounds have been dressed temporarily," The Tribune was informed.

"Our doctors have operations to take care of and they can't

SERVICES REFUSED HE KILLS DOCTOR

Debtor Whose Bill Was Unpaid Slays the Man Who Wouldn't Treat His Child

FIRES SIX TIMES THROUGH DOOR

Thrown Out by Physician He Inflicts Mortal Wounds from Without

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 8.—Dr. D. Winton Dunn, former mayor of Du-moin, Ill., is dead here today because he refused to treat a child of a man who had not paid an old bill.

Nursing a grudge against the physician because of his refusal, Jesse Joplin entered Dunn's office and calmly announced that he had come to kill him. Dunn, realizing that he was dealing with a desperate man, walked across the room, talking, and suddenly flung the door open and shoved Joplin through it. Joplin whirled and fired six shots taking effect. Dunn, realizing that he was mortally wounded, called a brother physician on the telephone, made an ante mortem statement and asked that a special train be arranged to take him to St. Louis for operation.

Joplin returned later to Dunn's office to finish the job and was arrested.

"I fully intended killing Dr. Dunn," declared Joplin, according to the police. "I hope he dies from my bullets. If he does not die, however, and I get out of jail I will finish him the first opportunity I get."

SUSTAIN OUSTER OF REAPER TRUST

International Harvester Can't Do Business in Missouri Rules Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Ouster of the International Harvester company of America—the Harvester "trust"—from doing business in Missouri was sustained today by the supreme court. It also affirmed the Missouri court's imposition of a fine of $25,000 against the "trust" for violating the Missouri anti-trust laws by crushing competition.

Both the anti-trust laws of Missouri and the right of the "Harvester trust" to do business in Missouri were at stake in the decision today. It was the culmination of a long fight by Missouri to oust the "trust" from doing business there by revoking its charter. The Missouri supreme court found the "trust" guilty of violating the state anti-trust laws, revoked its charter and originally fined it $50,000. This fine was afterward reduced to $25,000. The trust was given a chance to modify its sales methods, but appealed instead to the high court, declining to compromise with the state. The case decided today was originally begun against the Milwaukee Harvester company, the selling agent in Missouri of the International company. The Wisconsin corporation took out a Missouri license, which was cancelled by the Missouri courts.

The "trust" contended that its selling plan was not a monopoly, but was planned to furnish implements to consumers at the lowest possible prices. The state admitted that price increases were not the principal cause of complaint, but found the corporation guilty of stifling competition and crushing competitors.

Conviction of the International Harvester Company of America—"The Harvester trust"—of violating the Kentucky anti-trust laws, and a half dozen fines of $5,000 each, imposed in various Kentucky counties, were reversed today by the supreme court.

LITTLE KLEEGER GIRL IS CALLED BY DEATH SUNDAY

Following Operation, Charlotte Emily Kleeber Expires at La Crosse Hospital of Peritonitis

DEATH SHOCK TO THE COMMUNITY

Little High School Girl's Fight for Life Was Watched with Sympathetic Interest

RIENDS PAY TENDER TRIBUTE

Esteem in Which Daughter of Judge and Mrs. Leonard Kleeber Was Held Finds Sympathetic Expression

Charlotte Emily Kleeber, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Leonard Kleeber, 108 North Sixth street, died at La Crosse hospital at 11:20 Sunday morning, from peritonitis, following an operation.

Funeral services will be held at the residence tomorrow afternoon at half-past three. Rev. Rowleson will officiate.

Miss Kleeber was born December 29, 1897. She had been ill but a few days. Popular with her school set, and admired by her elders for sweet, womanly ways, her death has inspired wide sympathy and regret. These emotions are expressed with deep feeling by loving friends, in the following tribute:

This life of mortal breath is but a suburb of the life Elysian, Whose portal we call Death.

She is not dead—the child of our affection—

But gone unto that school

Where she no longer needs our poor protection

And Christ himself doth rule.

In that great cloister's stillness and seclusion

By guardian angels led

Safe from temptation, safe from sin's pollution,

She lives, whom we call dead.

—Longfellow.

The passing of Charlotte Kleeber has cast a gloom throughout the city. Of a most lovable disposition, gentle, kind and thoughtful beyond her years, she has endeared herself to all who knew her, and the sympathy of a wide circle of friends goes out to the father, mother and brother in their terrible sorrow.

Charlotte Kleeber was a member of the advanced sophomore class of the La Crosse high school, and until ten days ago was a regular attendant. She was a member of the Congregational church and Sunday school, and a faithful follower of Christ. Although called upon to suffer intensely during the last week of her life, her faith never wavered, and she died with perfect trust that her Lord was able to keep that which she had committed to him.

Many beautiful things might be written of the modest little maiden who has gone from our midst, but nothing could be said that would add to the sweetness of her memory, for the life she lived has written itself in the hearts of her friends and nothing can add to it, nor detract from it.

"I cannot say, and I will not say, That she is dead—she is just away! With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand,

She has wandered into an unknown land.

And left us dreaming how very fair, It needs must be, since she is there.

And you—oh, you who the wildest yearn

For the old time step and the glad return.

Think of her as faring on—as dear In the love of There as the love of Here.

Think of her still as the same, I say, She is NOT dead—she is just away."

FARMERS ASKED TO DISCUSS LA CROSSE PUBLIC MARKET

La Crosse will know tomorrow what the farmers of this vicinity think of the proposed public market.

The second community banquet, to be given by the Community Banquet association, is to be held tomorrow at Germania hall. Nearly a hundred answers to invitations have been received already by Dr. H. Clay Evenson, chairman of the general committee and a great many more are expected to attend.

The farmers are asked by the committee to come prepared to tell how to build a market, how to conduct it and how to make it a success. One of the big questions will be, "Who should run the market, the farmers or the business men?"

The speaking will be done entirely by the farmers, and the addresses will be limited to five minutes.

This is the last banquet to be held during this season, and there will probably be only one more this year, this one to be held some time during the early fall.

The market is the big thing at this time, and the committee of merchants hopes to secure some valuable information as to how the place should be conducted to best care for the produce of the farmers.

A reception is to be held at Germania hall from 10 until 12. Dr. H. Clay Evenson will preside at the meeting.

WILL SETTLE FOR SLAIN AMERICAN

Indemnity of $25,000 to Be Paid for Gustave Bauch Killed Rebels

CAREFUL OF BENTON PROPERTY

Villa Tells British Consul He Will Look Out for Ranch of the Slain Scotchman

EL PASO, Texas, June 8.—Immediate settlement with the heirs of Gustave Bauch, American slain in Juarez in February, will be made within the next week by the Mexican constitutional government. This will close the incident. An indemnity, which will probably amount to $20,000 to $25,000 will be paid.

No one will be held personally responsible for the killing. Although it was reported a prominent constitutional officer would be punished either by imprisonment or execution, it is understood the American state department will be satisfied with the payment of an indemnity.

General Villa has notified H. C. Myles, British consul here, that every protection will be accorded the property of Mrs. William Benton, widow of the British subject slain in Juarez in February. He ordered Governor General Fidel Avila of Chihuahua to see that this property is not molested.

CHIHUAHUA, Mexico, June 8.—General Francisco Villa and staff left for Torreon early today. They will remain there a week entraining Villa's troops for the campaign about Zacatecas.

Supreme Court Holds that Interstate Commerce Board Can Order Changes

WASHINGTON, June 8.—That congress and the interstate commerce commission as its agent, have authority to require state railway commissions to chance railroad rates wholly within a state, but which incidentally affect interstate rates, was decided today by the supreme court in the "Shreveport rate case."

The court upheld shippers of Shreveport, La., in their fight to prevent the Texas railroad commission from reducing rates in Texas, discriminating in favor of Houston, Dallas and other Texas cities.

THREE DROP FROM HEAT

CHICAGO, June 8.—The hottest weather of the year threatened Chicago today the mercury approaching the 90 mark before noon with predictions that it would go several notches above that before night. The Sunday record was 92.

The government thermometer registered 90 at 2 p. m. Three deaths were reported in Chicago and vicinity.

EXPLOSION BURNS WOMEN

MADISON, Wis., June 8.—A gasoline stove exploded in the home of Mrs. Wilhelm Soratzek this morning, throwing flaming gasoline over her hair and clothing. E. E. Daddy's Bedtime Story

The Picnic For the Dolls.

The Dolls Said Goodby.

DADDY had a story to tell the children that evening which was to be told especially for Evelyn. Jack never minded in the slightest bit if a story was told just for Evelyn, as sometimes a story was told just for him.

"I am going to tell you a story tonight about a picnic a little girl named Effie gave for her dolls," said daddy.

"Oh, I hope it will give me some ideas for a picnic for my dollies," said Evelyn. "They are hoping for one now that the hot weather has come."

"Effie invited three other little girls to come to the picnic and to bring their dolls," daddy went on, "and when these four children met, together with all the dolls they owned, there certainly was quite a crowd. You see, they didn't want to leave a single dollie out of a picnic, for dollies adore picnics and would have felt so hurt if they had been left home, because perhaps the sawdust was coming out of an arm or because one's pretty blue glass eyes had been knocked out.

"They were all dressed up in their very best. Some of them wore the most beautiful ribbons you ever saw, and others were decorated with magnificent feathers.

"When they first got to the party they were a little shy and sat up very straight, just as their mothers had put them down, but after a bit they got over being so shy, and, urged on by their mothers, they did all sorts of tricks and recited little poems.

"But the best part of the picnic—in fact, of any picnic—is, of course, the food.

"And delicious food they did have too! It tasted most especially good because it was in the most attractive little pink and white dishes. The dishes had been a present to Effie's dolls from Santa Claus the Christmas before. They had cambric tea, which was poured from a little pink and white teapot, and with the tea they had sandwiches just like real people. Then they had ice cream and cake. It was sponge cake, so it couldn't possibly hurt their teeth, and after they got all through each dollie was given a little basket filled with peppermints.

"And then all the dollies had to get ready to go home again. It took their mothers some time to get them ready. The ribbons had to be tied on, and they had to say goodby, looking as if they had not been tumbled about at all, for dollies mustn't look as if they had been too rough, even at a picnic.

"But they certainly did have a fine time, and they all went home so very happy."

Miss Margaret Woodrow Wilson, daughter of the president, will come to Madison on June 13 to participate in a preliminary conference of Wisconsin men and women who have been engaged in work as civic secretaries and social center directors. The specific purpose of this conference will be to prepare certain proposals as to legislation required and methods of administration to be submitted for final consideration to the larger meeting early in July. During her four days' stay Miss Wilson will also help to launch the Social Center Magazine.

Three years ago Madison was the meeting place of the first, national conference on social center development, at which President Wilson declared that the movement to use the schoolhouse as common council headquarters of citizenship is the way to "the recovery of the constructive and creative genius of the American people." Following that conference, laws were passed in Wisconsin and seven other states declaring the right of the citizens to use the schoolhouses for free discussion by the people as the old New England town halls were used.

The coming conference is heralded as marking the next great step in the movement to equip the citizenship for deliberation and public discussion, and that to make sure of general, systematic, continuous assembling of the citizens for organized discussion of the problems which finally belong to them, responsible secretarial service must be provided. The emphasis of the conference will be upon the secretarial function, but the necessity of responsible leadership for the social and recreational uses of the schoolhouse will also be considered. In brief, it is proposed to recognize and pay for the service of the school principal or other person definitely responsible to the school board, for service as civic secretary of each community.

INCOME LAW UP FOR FINAL TEST

Montreal Mining Company Is Trying to Collect Tax It Paid Under a Protest

ASHLAND, Wis., June 8.—A case of vital importance to the life of the state income tax law began here today before Judge G. N. Risjord, circuit court. It is the proceeding by which the Montreal Mining Co., is striving to collect the income tax itation, which owns and operates a mine at Montreal, Ashland county, but sells its ore to smelters in the east. The state has levied taxes on its income, but the company declares the state cannot legally do this because the income is derived from interstate commerce, the contention being that the sale of ore is interstate commerce.

The state's position, as stated by Attorney General W. C. Owen, is that the income tax is levied on income earned in Wisconsin without regard to its source.

The case will be carried to the United States supreme court, for it is pointed out that a decision adverse to the state would mean the practical death of the income tax law, since very little income of Wisconsin corporations subject to the law is earned in strictly Wisconsin business.

The company is an Ohio corporation under protest.

PLANE LIFE-SAVER

CHICAGO, June 8.—"Score one for the aeroplane as a lifesaver," said Anthony Stadlerman, birdman, who owed his life to the fact that Aviator Jack Vilas was only three miles away when Stadlerman's hydro-aeroplane dropped 300 feet into Lake Michigan. Vilas in another hydro-aeroplane distanced the motor-boats that rushed to the rescue and picked Stadlerman out of the water when the latter was at the point of exhaustion.

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

If your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you, drink lots of water.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salt which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which every one should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. Chas. A. Boy—Chicago druggist, 503 Main street.

MRS. ELI KINNEY AN OLD RESIDENT

S. O. B. Club Entertained by Mrs. Jennie Norris at Her Home on Saturday

WEST SALEM, Wis., June 8.—Olive J. Folts, well known throughout this vicinity and the county as Mrs. Eli Kinney, was born on March 20, 1838, in Catawagus county, N. Y. She came with her parents to Wisconsin in 1841. In 1856 she was united in marriage to Eli Kinney.

Mr. and Mrs. Kinney lived at Sparta for three years, when they moved to La Crosse county and settled on the farm which was their home for nearly half a century. People With Thin Blood

Some people have a tendency to become thin-blooded just as others have an inherited tendency to rheumatism, or to nervous disorders. The condition in which the blood becomes so thin that the whole body suffers comes on so gradually and stealthily that anyone with a natural disposition in that direction should watch the symptoms carefully. Bloodlessness, or anaemia, as the medical term is, can be corrected much more easily in the earlier stages than later. It begins with a tired feeling that rest does not overcome, the complexion becomes pale, and breathlessness on slight exertion, such as going up stairs, is noticed.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a home remedy that has been most successful in the treatment of diseases caused by thin blood. With pure air and wholesome food these blood-making pills afford the correct treatment when the symptoms described are noticed. A former sufferer from anaemia says: "I was emaciated and did not have a particle of color. I had severe headaches, had no ambition and could just drag around." Dr. Williams' Pink Pills quickly restored appetite, flesh and health. A full statement of this case with directions regarding diet will be found in the booklet, "Building Up the Blood," sent free by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

TWO GAMES

Echo field lay warm under the summer sunshine. Gay parasols were scattered among the hard benches that surrounded the diamond where the Littleville nine was to meet a picked number of young men from the hotel guests.

Long black stages crawled up the hill and deposited more spectators. There were awkward country youths and fresh-faced maidens from the surrounding villages all in holiday attire, and dapper, white clad young men and pretty girls from the big hotel near the bay. Old men, stooped from following the plow and the patient routine of the day's work, and old men from the hotel, bent and wrinkled from studying the stock market, joined the crowd.

At last the hotel players came and they were no mean antagonists for these country boys. A big automobile bus glided up to the field and the players and their friends tumbled out. The hotel nine was a trim, well set-up crowd, in uniforms of pure white from their caps to the soles of their feet. The hotel rooters rose and cheered.

The Littleville nine, clad in their sober gray and blue suits arrived in Sammy Hawk's two-horse stage. There was a loud cheer from the home sympathizers as the nine went onto the field to meet the foe. Capt. Link Stevens, the biggest and brownest giant of them all, gathered his men in a bunch and spoke plainly.

"Buck up, you chaps," he said with a click of his strong white teeth. "This is no parlor game and that hotel gang mean business. We've got to win! Just keep that in your mind, Todd, when you go to the stick—see? Don't have your mind on the parasols on the bench."

"I'll bet his mind's on the blue parasol all right," grumbled the crestfallen Todd to his crony, Wake-man.

"You mean Miss Galen?"

"Yep—and Link Stevens hasn't got a ghost of a show with her! I was talking with that Peters fellow from the hotel and he says Miss Galen's as good as engaged to that chap over there that's pitching for the Hotels—what's his name?"

"Miffin? Well, he's some swell! So is Helen Galen. Link's got a lot of nerve to think he can get her; he's nothing but a country lawyer, and they say her father's some punkins out in Omaha, where she came from—well, the game's called. Watch us put 'em on the run."

Todd went to the bat, still nursing a grudge against the handsome captain of the Littleville nine. The memory of another game, earlier in the season, which had been lost to the hotel boys because Todd had lost an inning through the simple mistake of trying to wave his hand at May Platt, and keep his eye on the approaching ball at the same time. He missed the ball and May's cheerful rooting could not compensate Todd for the error.

The Littleville players could not forget this horrid blunder; the hotel boys wouldn't allow them to.

Among the sea of snow white parasols that marked the hotel crowd of onlookers was one of blue; its owner bore a great deal of good natured railway with sweet composure. Once her eyes met the keen brown ones of Link Stevens and her smile and blush sent him stoutheartedly to the fray.

Dick Miffin came to her for a word of encouragement.

"You are carrying the enemy's colors," he reproached her. "That's a bit tough, Helen."

"She waved a white gloved hand. "But, see, Dick, what hosts of friends you have! Can't you spare one to the enemy?"

"All—save you Helen, and you know it!" he cried in a low tone.

At that moment some one touched his elbow, the game was called and he was compelled to leave her.

"Will you furl that parasol for my sake—wear my colors, Helen?" he asked. "Just wave your handkerchief—just a gleam of white."

"My color is blue, Dick," she said, regretfully, and he tore himself away with a heavy heart beating beneath his uniform.

Dick Miffin played like a tiger; he played to win.

Link Stevens tried to forget the blue parasol on the bench, and failed. His heart palpitated with the thought of what that blue might mean, Helen Galen showing her colors so proudly before all of her fashionable friends—before all Littleville! Did it mean that she really cared for him after all? He had asked her the other night, and she had deferred an answer until after her father came. He liked that idea—he wanted to meet the big westerner and have Judge Galen know just the kind of a man his daughter would marry.

With these thoughts rioting through his brain, it is any wonder that the Littleville nine made another spectacle of itself on Echo field that August day?

When the game was over, score 9 to 5, the hotel benches were a riot of waving white parasols and a din of cheers for the victorious nine. The section devoted to the Littleville sympathizers took on the air of a country funeral as one by one their friends shook hands with the defeated home team and told them to "Bear up."

Capt. Link Stevens found Jim Todd and gripped his hand.

"Say anything you like to me, Jim," he growled, "I know just how you felt the other time. It was a paradox that put us out this time, too—and I'm to blame for it."

"Well, it was this way, Link," explained Todd eagerly. "I didn't see the ball when it came. I was kinder looking at May, you know—"

"Oh, I know, all right," interrupted the disgusted lawyer. "To tell the truth, Todd, I didn't see a confounded thing except that blue parasol and Miffin's sneering face. They got every ball I sent—and they ate up the bases under my very nose! Say what you like—I can stand it!"

Jim grinned sympathetically. "I might say I hope you win the other 'game' you're playing, Link. Here's wishing you joy, anyway."

Link flushed and shook his hand. "You're ahead of time, Jim; besides no sensible girl would care about marrying such a cheerful idiot as I have made of myself this afternoon!"

"Oh, I don't know about that. Most any girl would overlook it, provided it happened because you were thinking about her," remarked Todd as he sauntered off.

Link Stevens remained only long enough to congratulate the victors, and, with Dick Miffin's cool, insolent smile still dancing before his troubled eyes, he walked down the hill toward home. She was one of that white parasol gang, and the meeting at that moment would have been embarrassing for both of them. Her answer was still in doubt.

So Link ate his supper and then went up to his office above the Second National Bank. Here he switched on the lights and digging his fingers into his thick mop of fair hair he gave himself over to the study of a particularly knotty problem as presented by one of his weightier law books.

It was Link Steven's way of clear-telephone bell jingled companioning the atmosphere. At 9 o'clock his ably.

He picked up the receiver. Helen Galen's voice came over the wire: "You haven't permitted me to congratulate you on your victory," she said in her low, thrilling contralto.

Link laughed. "You might spare my feelings!" he chided her. "That was an awful walloping we received!"

"Oh, you mean the ball game?" she asked. "That is unimportant; I meant the other game you were playing!"

"The other game—you mean the great game, Helen?" he whispered. "Yes."

"Have I really won?" "So my father says—he is waiting here to meet you."

"Helen, are you glad?" asked Link. "Hurry dear!" was her answer.

Many a fellow never gets engaged because he can't stand the high cost of loving.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

Life's Machine

We work too much,
We play too much,
We shirk too much,
We say too much,
We eat too much,
We drink too much,
But never, never
Think too much.

We sleep too much,
We run too much,
We weep too much,
We pun too much,
We boast too much,
We rave too much,
But never, never
Save too much.

We groan too much,
We howl too much,
We moan too much,
We growl too much,
We frown too much,
We pile too much,
But never, never
Smile too much.

Raising Funds.

And here is a schoolroom story, told by a Michigan health supervisor:
"We were raising funds for paying for operations for removal of the adenoids and tonsils. The school children were much interested and canvassed the town selling stamps. At one home where a little boy called to sell stamps the lady asked: 'What are you going to do with the money?' The little boy quickly replied: 'It is to buy adenoids for little children that haven't got none.'"

A Long Bill.

Augustus and Angelina were climbing the highest peak of the Alps, and she stood above him some twenty feet. "What!" he gasped. "What do you see?"
"Far, far below," she cried, "I see a long white streak, stretching like a paper ribbon back almost to our hotel."
"Ha! ha!" he ejaculated. "It's that hotel bill overtaking us!"

A Standby.

"How is it," enquired the young bride of an older married friend, "that you always manage to have such delicious beef?"
"It's very simple," said the older woman. "I first select a good honest butcher, and then I stand by him."
"You mean that you give him all of your trade?"
"No; I mean that I stand by him while he is cutting the meat."

Appreciation.

W. B. Trites, the American novelist who had to go to London to get a publisher, where his books achieved a great success, was lunching in

The Liver as Aid To Blood Purity

The Natural Stimulus Required is Not the Pur-gative Kind.

Important as it is to keep the bowels open, it should be remembered that such action does not necessarily mean that the liver has been stimulated. The action of S. S. S. is a natural liver tonic, but not a bowel mover. It works in the liver cells to assist in the natural and necessary function of converting from the blood certain constituents into what are known as assimilable products. These are readily absorbed into the body tissues to constantly provide new and healthy material for that which is being destroyed by the energy of tissue changes.

The presence of any blood trouble naturally suggests a sluggish liver, but there is required those medicinal properties which, upon reaching the liver, still retain their catalytic energy to keep on through the blood circulation to do battle with impurities wherever they may have settled.

Rheumatism, catarrh, anemia, most skin diseases and other results of impure blood, while implicating the liver by their morbid influences, are quickly checked by S. S. S. Its action throughout the blood circulation results in the stimulation of the tissue cells to the healthy and judicious selection of their own essential nutrients.

You can get S. S. S. in any drug store, but insist upon having it.
Take no chance by permitting anyone to recommend a substitute. And if your blood condition is such that you would like to consult a specialist, address The Swift-Snedden Company, 526 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

Backache pains often come from weak kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys.

Read what a La Crosse citizen says:

Mrs. G. A. Phelps, 1402 Jackson street, La Crosse, Wis., says: "I suffered for a long time from rheumatic pains, with sharp cricks in my back. I had pains in my sides and hips and it was almost impossible for me to do my work. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and got relief from all the trouble. I felt much stronger and better in every way. I am certainly glad to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills."

Germantown when his host's little son asked:

"Father, what is appreciation?"
"Appreciation," said Mr. Trites, "is my boy, a rare disease something like beriberi—people get it away from home."

Might Shorten Term.
Apropos of the numerous influential malefactors whose prison terms are either annulled or cut down to nearly nothing. Mayor Brand Whitlock of Toledo said a short while ago:

"It is a good thing for the public to let these men out so soon. 'I am sympathizing one afternoon with a poor woman whose husband had just been sent to jail. She was weeping bitterly and I said to her:'

"Now, don't take it so hard. Two years is a long sentence. I know; but he may not have to serve it all. Convicts who behave themselves often-times get out months before their appointed time."
"That's just it," she replied, still sobbing. "Henry can be an angel when he likes."

Failing Strength
"Yes," said the old man, "I find my strength is failing somewhat. I used to walk around the block every morning, but lately I feel so tired when I get half way round I have to turn and come back."

Obeying Rules.
In a hotel the other day the manager was instructing the new arrival in his duties.

"Now, you see that sign, 'Gentlemen must use the spittoons.' If you notice any of the guests violating that rule, report the matter to me."

"Oh will, sir," said Pat, and he kept a sharp lookout. After watching a gentleman for half an hour he went to him and said:

"D'ye mind the sign over yonder, sir?"

"Yes," said the gentleman.

"Why don't you observe it, then?"

"I'm not expectorating on the carpet," said the gentleman, astonished.

"Oh know ye're not," said Pat, "an' yer not usin' the spittoon neither. Spit, ye thafe, or O'll report ye."

DENY FRANK NEW TRIAL

ATLANTA, Ga., June 8.—The mention of Leo F. Frank, convicted of murdering 14 year old Mary Phagan, for a new trial, was refused today by Judge Ben Hill. Frank's counsel noted an appeal to the state supreme court. Solicitor Dorsey for the prosecution, filed a demurrer. Hill's opinion denied that Frank had lost any constitutional right by not being present when the jury returned its verdict.

The Great New Historical Romance

Yet Smith wanted neither backers nor authority, but laid down, the law in his own fashion.

"I'll be tried and vindicated—if justice is done me—when we land in Virginia! Until then, with all instructions sealed. I stand on equal footing with the other movers of this adventure. There is no power to arrest me, nor to try me, until we know of whom the council consists. I have submitted to arrest to show all that I do not set myself above discipline; it is another matter when you talk of taking me ashore for a drumhead court martial! But if any, or two—aye, or a half a dozen of your number think to move me out of this ship against my will, let them step forth like men—and God protect the right!"

CHAPTER ELEVEN

With the discrediting of Smith, on whom I had put most reliance, I saw my own future darken; I knew I should not be allowed to return to England with Newport if Wingfield and his friends could prevent it, if only because they wished to affront Smith, he having already laid my case before them.

I was to know the very dregs of despair. I could see nothing before me but long months of waiting; and what of Mary in the meantime? If Captain Maxwell had durst deal with me in the desperate fashion he had, what chance had she at his hands? However, of one thing I was sure, and got no small comfort from the thought; my disappearance had ere this taken my father to London to make search for me, and he would be certain to see Mary unless the Maxwells had removed her; but I put this idea from me.

Now as the voyage was approaching an end I began those letters which I proposed should go back with Captain Newport when he sailed. For my father's use I made a very careful and detailed statement of the manner in which I had become a member of the Virginia Company, that he might submit it to the London Council, when I hoped they would act at once, and favourably, to my interests, for if the matter dragged I knew there was the chance that Newport would have sailed again for Virginia.

Smith said that probably my father would have no great difficulty in dealing with the Council if he agreed to meet the charges the London Company had been put to in sending me out. Wishing to aid me where he could, he gave me letters for him to show Sir George Somers and Mr. Richard Hackluyt, who were his special friends in the Council, in which he set forth the manner of my arrival on shipboard.

"If it were but possible for us to change places, Farraday, what contentment it would bring," said he. "For here are Wingfield and his friends who are moving heaven and earth to be rid of me, even attempting to scare me by talk of gallows and hanging—though I'll not take one backward step! And here are you who desire nothing so much as to return to England; and yet we cannot bring it about."

Men pass now from the Old World to the New and give scarce any thought of the hazard of it; but consider, at the time of the London Company's adventuring, it was a wholly different matter. Then in good truth it was a journey into the unknown, to an unexplored region where there were neither towns nor homes nor cultivated lands, but all a wilderness; no men could say how vast, or where it had its beginning and where its ending. Dangers we faced of which we knew naught aye, and later there was to come sickness and pitiful hardship the like of which I daresay no body of Englishmen had ever been called upon to experience until that time.

After we left the Virgin Isles murders began to be heard, and these grew louder from day to day until they had mounted into a chorus of discontent. I know not how it got about, but presently it was being said on all sides that we were altogether out of our reckoning. At first this was denied, for it was feared that to own to the truth of it would precipitate a mutiny, but John Smith told me privately that Captain Newport had admitted to him that three days past we should have sighted land. I think it was the morning of the day that he told me this that Captain Ratcliffe, boarding us, proposed to Newport that we bear up helm and return to England.

It was now nearing the end of April, and the success of the venture seemed to hang in the balance. I do not question it, if they had not lacked for a leader there were enough disaffected men among the worst sort in our company to have compelled the action Captain Ratcliffe proposed; but in this extremity the sky became overcast, and swiftly out of the south the worst storm we had yet encountered descended upon us. So great were the waves, we momentarily expected to be overwhelmed by them; nor were any of our company allowed on deck because of the seas that continually broke over the ship. For part of a day and all of one night we drove northward under bare poles, but as the dawn broke the tide laid somewhat, while out of the tossed and ragged clouds the great warm drops of rain began to patter sparsely on the deck; and then above the torment of the wind in our rigging we heard the cry of:

"Land—ho!"

It was raised by the watch in the fore part of the ship. This took those of us who had not succumbed to sea sickness during the night in haste to the deck. I own that though I was a most unwilling member of the company, yet I felt the beat of my heart quicken, since it was not in the nature of man to be wholly dead to the inspiration of the moment. As we crouched for shelter in the lee of the roundhouse, I heard good Mr. Hunt, our preacher, say: "Now God be praised, who has led us safely across the trackless deep!"

And truly, the wind from the hollow of his hand had dealt more fairly with us than the seamanship of our captains, since it had brought us to the end of our long quest. Yet look as we might we could discern nothing that to our eyes had the appearance of land; but presently a narrow streak seemed to fix itself immovably on the horizon's rim, it grew up above the crests of the racing seas and close under the ragged edges of the wind-driven clouds; and as we looked we saw the seas break in a fine white line that stretched away in the distance, until it was lost on the curving line of the shore.

HORSE CRUSHES HIS CHEST UPON DRAY

Runaway Dashes Into a Heavy Wagon on Mill Street and Kills Self

One horse belonging to John Ashland of French Island was killed and the other badly cut, when the team took fright and ran away at seven o'clock this morning. The dead horse crushed in his chest against a corner of a heavy dray.

Ashland drove in from the Island with a load of strawberries, stopping at the Seper store at Avon and St. James street, leaving the team untied. While he was in the store, the team was frightened, probably at the ringing of the bell of the church across the street, and started down St. James street toward Copeland park. At Rose street, a man came out from the Knox saloon in an attempt to head off the animals, and in so doing, shied the beasts onto the walk, narrowly missing several people.

The wagon collided with a light pole, snapping the reach of the wagon. The horses kept on down the street with the front trucks of the wagon, rushing for the tracks.

When beyond Hagar street, the animals turned in toward the east side of the street, colliding with a dray belonging to John Desmond. The horse on the street side was impaled by the corner of the dray, and was killed almost instantly. The other animal escaped with a few bruises, none serious.

HIT AUTO BANDIT IN HARD BATTLE

CHICAGO, June 8.—After exchanging dozens of shots with several policemen, a quartette of automobile bandits fled from La Grange, Ill., at daybreak today, one of their number having been wounded. The police of Joliet and several nearby cities have been warned to watch for them. The four robbers, in an automobile stolen from Walter Peck of Chicago, drew up before a jewelry store in La Grange early today, smashed the windows and began gathering trinkets. The policemen opened fire on them and the fire was returned.

His Daily Supply of Cake.

A Wichita attorney is very fond of a certain kind of cake his wife is expert at making. Recently she left for a visit with her parents, and before going baked a large cake. She knew that if she left the entire cake where her husband could find it he would eat it all in one day, so she cut it into slices and hid them in various parts of the house. Each day she writes her husband, and in the letter she tells him where he can find a piece of the cake.—Kansas City Star.

FOUR ADJUSTMENTS NECESSARY IN LIFE

The Rev. Carlos C. Rowlinson Gives Baccalaureate Sermon to the High School Graduates

TELLS OF PROBLEMS OF YOUTH

Is Not a Defiance to World Nor a Surrender but Is Merely an Adjustment

The problem of the youth and the relation of Christianity to the formation of character and life were discussed by the Rev. Carlos C. Rowlinson, pastor of the First Congregational church, in his sermon last night. He was preaching the baccalaureate sermon to the graduates of the high school.

"Remember now thy Creator in the days of your youth," was his text. There are four great adjustments, according to the Rev. Mr. Rowlinson. They are:

Adjustment to the world's knowledge. A religious adjustment. Adjustment to life work.

Sermon in Part

In part the pastor said: "Most heartily does this church welcome you young people to this sanctuary. You have finished a certain prescribed program for your lives, and are receiving the approbation of the school authorities for this attainment. But you would not launch out upon the wider sea of life, which takes you so far from your old moorings, without asking for an interpretation of your relation to God in all that you are to do. Hence you come here tonight. You are welcome, in the name of our heavenly Father."

"You are all more or less perplexed by the problems that are common to youth, and so are common to yourselves. You are looking into the future with a degree of perplexity. The outcome, however hopeful, is yet uncertain. What are you to do and be in this world?"

"First of all, let us ask ourselves what are the problems of youth? and to give an answer at once: the problems of youth are the problems of adjustment to the world into which the youth has involuntarily come. The problem is not one of defiance to the world, nor yet of surrender to the world, but of adjustment. Let us think of this for a time."

Adjustment Problem
"The problem of adjustment to the world's knowledge is your first problem. To those you have been applying yourselves, and have formed habits, I hope, which will make you ever increasing learners of the facts about the world's history; about the ways of nature as described in the natural sciences; about the languages of men."

"Put in other words, you have been finding out in school something of what the world thinks about itself. If possible you ought to pursue your study of the sciences, languages and literatures until you acquire a sense of at-homeness in the presence of any reality of the world's life."

"How intensely the age in which we live believes in this adjustment is testified to by the tremendous funds we are annually expending upon our schools, colleges and universities. The opportunity for solving this problem of your life is unprecedented. No past age can compare with ours in this respect. Respond with all your heart to this opportunity, and secure your intellectual adjustment."

A Social Adjustment
"The second problem is that of social adjustment. A boy naturally belongs to a 'gang.' But if boys go in 'gangs,' girls go in 'bunches.' The home is the original and fundamental gang. But the child gradually works away from the home into new combinations. After awhile the boy defies the 'gang,' by going with a girl, or perhaps joining the church. He asserts his personality, one of the most important moves of youth. He refuses to let his 'gang' dictate to him, and acts upon his own responsibility. So and so only he becomes a free man."

"A man or woman is educated when he is able to think for himself and act for himself. But he will find that this does not mean that he can create a little world of his own, and live in it; but that he has mastered the laws of social adjustment, and is able to live without his fellowmen for their mutual advantage.

Religious Adjustment

"The third problem is that of one's religious adjustment. It is not every one who solves this problem, as it is not every one who solves any other of these problems of youth. By religious adjustment is meant that one brings himself into joyful, intelligent and conscious co-operation with the essential will and purpose of the universe in which we dwell. But to this I shall return somewhat later."

"The fourth adjustment is that of a calling or life work. What definite task will you perform that will enable you to be free, to express the deepest thing in your own life, and which shall furnish you a genuine co-operation with the divine will? operation with the divine will? main, the problems of youth."

Make a Personality

"Now our human society has come to know itself well enough so that it is becoming apparent that all our great institutions are to be aids to this great result: its lives. This is especially true of the home, the school and the church. These are all primarily educational institutions. Their main task is not to attain commercial success, but to organize and develop character. The center of their life and influence is childhood and youth. They are forever engaged in the task of making all things new."

"Here then is the essential problem of each one of you—to adjust yourself to the world in the midst of which you find yourself in such a manner as to develop the highest personality, the truest manhood and the richest womanhood."

Christian Message

"Does Christianity have any clear, distinct and fundamental message for you in the solution of this problem? Yes, it does, and you have rightly come here tonight that you may hear that message."

"It is put briefly and most accurately in the words of my text—'Remember now thy Creator, in the days of thy youth.' Christianity says that it is of the first importance to put God in our lives first. But that may mean much, or it may mean little or nothing to us. Can it be made clear to all why that is significant?"

"Jesus Christ has often been called the world's 'Master Teacher.' He is frequently thought of as 'the light of the world.' If he is such, we do well to get at his solution of our youthful problem."

"Is not his solution just this?—that there is, at the heart and core of the universe, and from thence flowing out to its greatest limits a force and a life of kindred nature to our own, which loves us as His offspring; which is essentially moral in its nature, being true, reliable, faithful, righteous; seeking our comradeship, that with Him we may have a fullness of joy; using our minds, our hearts, our hands through which to express Himself in this world. And that therefore a man is really a man when by this partnership with the infinite he becomes more than a man, being a worker together with God in the fundamental task of creating on earth the kingdom of God."

"The Christian solution of the problems of youth is, that these problems shall always be considered in the light of your relation to the kingdom of God—the lesser problem thus being swallowed up in the solution of the greater. 'Seek first his kingdom and his righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you,' is the Christian solution."

"When you are perplexed by your lesser problems, ask yourselves if this may not be because you have failed to solve your fundamental problem. 'Remember now thy Creator, in the days of thy youth;' and when you have established a full partnership with Him, you will find your lesser problems easily solved."

"This, my dear friends, is eternal truth. Under no circumstances are you to allow yourselves to neglect it. God's hour strikes now."

WANT WOMEN TO ATTEND THE COMMUNITY EXCURSION

The all-city canvass to secure support for the community excursion to Tomah June 19 was resumed this morning. Arthur Holbek, chairman of the excursion committee of the board of trade, under the auspices of which the excursion will be given, has instructed his committeemen to complete the canvass not later than Wednesday night.

Today Chairman Holbek issued the following statement to the public:

"Women are invited to attend this excursion. We believe they are just as interested and as capable as men in community endeavor. Bring your wives and daughters. If you have no wives, bring your sweethearts. And if the men don't invite you, ladies, come anyway. The committee needs your aid, and assures you a pleasant and interesting experience."

The canvass was about half completed in a one-day "crusade" last week.

AUTO OVER DITCH BUT NO ONE HURT

Strange Automobile Accident Story Occurred Sunday on the Road to West Salem

TELEPHONE POLE DID THE WORK

Kindley Farmer with Team Pulled Amateur Auto Driver and Family from Danger

W. G. Garbers, county treasurer, brings an unusual automobile accident story from the West Salem road.

A man, who was apparently just learning to drive a machine, and who had his family out for a spin, attempted to turn around on a narrow road. A steep bank on either side did not seem to stop him in the least.

Over the Road.

He backed too far and started to go over the side of the road. Part of his machine was down the incline and the rest hurrying after it. The front wheel on the left side caught in a phone pole—and the life of the autoist and his family was saved.

Carefully the party climbed from the machine. A near-by farmer was called upon and with his team succeeded in bringing the automobile back to the roadway.

Women Scream

Mr. Garbers, who saw the entire affair, says that the telephone post was all that averted a serious accident.

The women and children in the auto screamed when the machine started down the hill, for there was a drop of 75 to 100 feet.

To Learn More

The autoist, who refused to give his name, said he was going to learn more about driving a car before he took his family out riding again.

MOTORCYCLIST AND AUTO CRASH AND TWO ARE INJURED

stop those to take X-ray pictures of the injured men. We don't know how they are injured."

Claims Fast Driving

Sheppard, the auto chauffeur, insists that the motorcycles were "going fast."

It is understood today that the motorcyclists reverse the story of Sheppard. They claim that the auto was on the left side of the road, going out. The motorcycles, one is said to claim, were following each other and were on their right. The auto made no move to turn, they claimed, and Steinlein turned to the left to avoid hitting the auto. Just as he turned, the auto turned and the wreck resulted.

Had Extra Passengers

It is claimed that two of the three motorcycles were carrying extra passengers. The names of the "rear seat riders" could not be learned today.

URGES CORRECTION OF SALOON ABUSES

R. W. Davis Gives Ideas on Solution of Liquor Problem to the Brewmasters Saturday

Solution of the liquor problem in the United States lies in the correction of abuses of the saloon system, according to the view of R. W. Davis, chairman of the La Crosse county board, as delivered to the Upper Mississippi Valley Brewmasters' association at their semi-annual meeting and smoker Saturday evening in the Hotel Doering.

Mr. Davis urged that the public be educated to regard the saloon as a business place as legitimate as a grocery. He declared that the divorce of the saloon from vice of all kinds, its improvement along sanitary lines, and the employment of men of good moral standing were absolutely essential to this end.

As a means to get the right kind of men in the saloons, Mr. Davis advocated dropping the license system, and making a saloon permit a transferable, inheritable and respectable property right.

In the afternoon the Brewmasters, of whom about a score were present, went to the E. T. Mueller farm down river for a fish fry.

CALLS "COPPESS" MUNICIPAL MOTHER

Mrs. Alice Stebbins Wells Asserts that Policewoman Is Product of Development

SAYS GIRLS HAVE LEFT HOME

With Women and Children at Work Outside of Shelter New System Is Needed

"Municipal motherhood—policewomen—is the hyphen, so to speak, between the home and commercialized amusement," said Mrs. Alice Stebbins Wells, the policewoman of Los Angeles, Cal., in her address last evening at the First Methodist church. "The vigilance of the proprietors of places of amusements which young people frequent is in proportion to the vigilance of the people. Give a city women police and crime and disorder will decrease. The presence of women police is in itself a preventive of crime."

MRS. ALICE STEBBINS WELLS

History of Movement

Policewomen were instituted in Los Angeles four years ago through the efforts of Mrs. Wells, who drew up and secured the passage of an ordinance adding the new department to the city. Since that time, two states, Minnesota and Maryland, have changed their constitutions and the city of San Francisco has changed its charter to provide for the appointment of policewomen. In the case of Los Angeles such a move was unnecessary, as the original charter permitted appointments of women to the force. Los Angeles now has five policewomen, San Francisco 3, Portland, Ore., 5, Fort Wayne 1, Kansas City 1 and Chicago 20.

"The effort of Los Angeles," said Mrs. Wells, "is to make the city as a whole as wholesome as its individual homes. The young people of a city are its greatest asset, and it should be the great work of the community to care for them."

The question was asked if the rate of juvenile delinquency had decreased since the appointment of policewomen in Los Angeles. In answer, Mrs. Wells said that the apparent rate of delinquency had increased, for the reason that many more cases were brought to light than formerly, for the reason that the women went after cases and unearthed them.

To Supplement Men

"The policewoman has come in answer to modern needs, and she has come to stay—not to displace men, but to supplement their work. For countless ages, the business world was a man's world, with women and children secluded in the home. With the whirl of modern machinery came the woman and child, in collective industry. The country moved to town and thus within the span of a half century has arisen a state of individual vicissitude and social complication unprecedented in the world's history."

"A man-made police department once fairly able to meet the situation, must now be composed of both women and men if it is to handle with propriety and justice a public composed of men, women and children."

"Not so long ago, women prisoners were for every need dependent upon men jailers. The appointment of a police matron—in the beginning derided—won acknowledgment as the righting of a monstrous wrong."

Women Plainclothesmen

"When cities fully realize the value in preventive work, there will be such women in every city, and many where there are now few. Plainclothes for the work of investigation and quiet ministry—both plainclothes and uniforms for parks, stations, and those who may wish to appeal to women officers."

"A very serious aspect of modern life is the headless, pleasure seeking young girl in public places. In dealing with her, the policewoman has an immeasurable advantage over her brother officer. In fact, only the advent of women in police work makes possible the serious attacking of this problem."

"The police department represents the great peace army and its primary duty is to prevent crime. The appointment of women means an added emphasis upon the preventive side of police work. Always, women have

WHEAT PROSPECTS ARE TEN PER CENT BETTER THAN DECADE AVERAGE

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Crop estimates of the department of agriculture today gave the condition of winter wheat June 1, as 92.7, compared with 83.5 June 1, 1913, and 80.8 for the ten-year average. NORMAL SCHOOL CAPTURES MEET

Evans of Y. M. C. A. Individual Star with Total of 15 Points; Strong in Dashes

La Crosse normal school athletes captured the annual city meet at the Interstate fair grounds Saturday with a total of 52 points. La Crosse High school was a close second with 45 2-3 points, the Y. M. C. A. being last with 26 1-3 points in their favor.

Wallace Evans of the Y. M. C. A. took individual honors with a total of three firsts, those in the 100 and 220 yard dashes and the 440 yard run. He made the exceptionally good time of 10 and 23 seconds in the century and the 220.

Kulzinski of the high school negotiated the 220 yard low hurdles in the fast time of 27 seconds, two seconds less than the fastest time made in the conference meet at Chicago. Taylor of the high school hurled the shot 42 feet 2 inches. The discuss and hammer event went to G. A. Dahlgren of the Y. M. C. A.

The children are Ruth Salzer, Marie Gmeiner, Mabel Cohen, Edna Rick, Anna Schwengler, Oris Wolters, Harry Belling, Charles Weiss, Russell Feger and Eugene May.

The children received their diplomas as evidence that they had finished their three years' course in bible history and the catechism.

Following the services, the children were entertained at the parsonage at dinner. Rev. Klaus was presented with a bicycle by the class.

SPECIAL MEETING OF THE COUNCIL

Mayor Ori J. Sorensen this morning called a special session of the common council to be held Tuesday evening, when the details of the new city ordinance will be arranged. It is planned to let the work proceed under the direction of County Road Commissioner Nic. Hintgen and the city pay its share of the expense.

ORMSON RECKLESS SAYS F. X. DIETZ

Complaint will be made today of the reckless driving by persons operating the car owned by Louis Ormson.

Ormson is the man who drove the car which killed Charles Lund when the machine plunged off the French Island road, the finale of a "joy ride."

Ormson is the man who was fined $25 and costs Saturday by Police Judge Edward Cronon for speeding fifty miles an hour on Third street Wednesday night.

F. X. Dietz, local auto man, is the complainant. He says the Ormson car nearly ran him off the French Island road Saturday night, that the driver of it was reckless and that, after nearly causing an accident, the party with hilarious shouting passed on at great speed. He is not positive who was driving the car.

KEEP MOVING IS MAYOR'S ORDER

Mayor Ori J. Sorensen Saturday night informed the police that he wanted the "move along" ordinance enforced.

In closing, Mrs. Wells paid a tribute to the work being done along moral lines in La Crosse and other places by Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Steadwell. Mr. Steadwell is president of the World's Purity Federation.

HARANGUES KING AT HORSE SHOW

Militant Says Two Words Before She Is Seized and Thrown Out

DRUNK BREAKS INTO PALACE
Young Engineer Slips by Guards at Night and Wanders Through Buckingham

LONDON, June 8.—King George and Queen Mary had another taste of suffrage activities today when at the Horse show a woman arose near the royal box and started a harangue. The suffragette had no more than got to her feet when royalty's guardians got into action.

"I protest," she started to say when policemen grasped her and hustled screaming and fighting, from the place.

Breaks Into Palace

All England was moved today by the amazing exploit of Harry Pike, a young engineer, who broke into Buckingham palace "just to show that it could be done."

Arraigned in Bow street court today, Pike expressed contrition for his deed. He told the court that it was merely the result of bravado originating in drink.

Prosecutor Muskett said it was apparent to him that Pike's exploit was a foolish freak resulting from over-indulgence in drink. Pike was remanded for a week.

The young man evaded civil and military guards at night, scaled a high brick wall topped with sharp spikes, forced a basement window and wandered about the palace corridors at will. At one time he was within a few feet of the queen's private apartments. He was captured after a brief chase when he opened the door to one of the maid's rooms.

The incident created a stir here today, in view of the recent activity of suffragettes.

For the first time the suffragettes invaded Catholic churches yesterday, interrupting the ceremonies by yelling denunciations of the government. One of the disturbers, just as she escaped in a taxi, was attacked by a woman of the congregation who struck the "wild woman" violently in the face. Blood spurted and the crowd cheered wildly.

BUTTON WORKERS ENJOY AN OUTING

Employees of the Wisconsin Pearl Button Company Spend a Happy Day in Myrick Park

Between 700 and 800 persons, employees of the Wisconsin Pearl Button company, and their friends, enjoyed a picnic of the concern at Myrick park Saturday afternoon. The plan was to take the steamer Frontenac and barge Mississippi and go on the river for an excursion. Because of the high water it was impossible to secure the boat and the park was substituted.

The day was pleasantly spent with games and contests of various nature. Sack races, foot races, a tug of war and egg races aided in the enjoyment of the day. The girls' egg race was one of the chief features of the afternoon sport.

In the late afternoon lunch was served each one having a basket. Ice cream, peanuts and the like were furnished by the company.

Dancing was enjoyed by the young people, as well as the older ones in the evening.

This was the annual outing of the employees of the button workers, and their invited guests. All declare that it was the best and in every way the most successful that has ever been given by the officials of the concern for the employees.

Although there was some disappointment felt over the fact that the steamer could not be secured, after the day at the park all were satisfied.

EVANS AND SOLIE LOSE

Arthur Evans and Theodore Solie, local Y. M. C. A. champions, were defeated Saturday afternoon at St. Paul by Cools and Kay, champions of the northwest at two games, 5 to 21 and 6 to 21. Cools downed Evans at singles 21 to 12 and Kay took Solie into camp 21 to 9. Plans are on foot now to have the St. Paul men come to La Crosse soon for a return match, at which time the local men would be conceded a victory. The St. Paul court was much larger than at the La Crosse "Y," explaining probably the mediocre showing made.

In going over the athletic records of the past year at the normal school it was found that one man had made his letter in all four athletic branches. That man is Elmer Wachter, husky athlete from Prairie du Chien. Wachter came to the local school entirely inexperienced in football and before the season was over he was conceded to be the best tackle the school has ever had. He played guard on the basketball team and made a name for himself as one of the best stationary guards in the state. Some critics in normal athletics in this state gave him a place on both the all-state football and basketball teams. Wachter will captain the basketball team during the next year. He has been a tower of strength on the baseball team behind the bat. In last Saturday's track and field meet Wachter broke school record in the shot put, heaving the weight nine inches farther than any previous normal man had done. The record now stands at 40 feet, the former record being held by Ryan since the class meet several weeks ago.

Tuxedo—A Hit with the Hit-Makers

HUNDREDS of the snappiest ball players in the country—the clean-cut athletes who provide Americans with their greatest outdoor relaxation—enthusiastically endorse Tuxedo. This is the kind of endorsement that carries a convincing punch.

These men know that Tuxedo is a mild, pure tobacco, which can be smoked all day with pleasure. Tuxedo cannot bite the tongue; it burns freely and smoothly, giving a cool, sweet smoke.

Tuxedo

The Perfect Pipe Tobacco

From the scoreboard man to the magnate in the private box, everybody on the grounds is "catching on to" the supreme merit of Tuxedo.

Tuxedo is made from the finest, mildest leaves of high-grade Burley tobacco, so treated under the famous original "Tuxedo Process" that it burns slow and cool, with a delightful flavor and aroma.

The "Tuxedo Process" makes it impossible for this perfect tobacco to bite or sting the most delicate throat or tongue.

Tuxedo has many imitators—in outward appearance. It has no equal in the pipe.

GOLF TOURNEY ON AT KANSAS CITY

Trans-Mississippi Meet Opens Today on Links of Levanston Club; Legg a Favorite

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 8.—Ideal weather conditions prevailed when the play began at eight o'clock this morning in the Trans-Mississippi golf tournament at Levanston golf club. The links are fast and some low cards are expected.

Harry G. Legg of the Minneapolis club of Minneapolis, winner of the tournament for years, is the favorite. There are, however, a large number of younger men, who have made a good showing in the practice matches and they are expected to make it interesting for Legg.

About 150 out of town players are here, Omaha, Denver, St. Louis, Minneapolis and St. Paul sending the biggest delegations. Today and Tuesday will be devoted to thirty-six hole medal play and match play in three divisions will start Wednesday.

A championship trophy and medal, the president's cup, the vice president's cup, treasurer's cup, the directors' cup, and the possession of the Brook cup and medals are up for competition.

FOSTORIA, Ohio, June 8.—"General" Charles Kelly with his unemployed army of sixty men broke camp here early today and started for Pennsylvania enroute to Washington. The "army" arrived via box cars and when refused permission to stop here went into camp nearby.

It stands to reason that a man should be good-natured when he hasn't anything else to do.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD BY HAL SHERIDAN

With Ty Cobb back in the wagon the Tigers drove into the second in the American league, handing the Athletics a 4 to 1 trimming.

Red Faver, a recruit, won a regular job with the White Sox hurling corps by refusing to permit any of Chance's Yanks to get beyond second base.

McHale gave way to Caldwell when the White Sox hit in clusters in the sixth.

Agnew's single after Leary had tripled gave the Browns a ten inning melee with the Senators. Twenty-nine swats made music for the Kansas City Federal park crowd. The St. Louis Feds counted seventeen bingles, drove Gene Packard to cover and won.

This Speaker prevented the Naps from tying the score in the ninth by going to the wall and gathering in Olson's triple.

Claude Hendrix mowed down the Indianapolis Feds, the Chiefs making a clean sweep of the series.

INTEREST IN DEFIANCE

THIRD CONTENDER FOR HONOR OF CUP DEFENCE WILL TACKLE OTHERS TOMORROW OFF THE HOOK

NEW YORK, June 8.—With two wins to the credit of the Vanitie, one for the Resolute and one race for the honor of defending the America's cup called off, interest here today was intense as to the chances of the Defiance, third of the American craft entered as a possible contender against Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock IV. Yachting enthusiasts will be able to form an opinion on the Defiance tomorrow when the third American boat will tackle the other two in a spin off Sandy Hook.

Natural interest in the first clash of the three defenders was heightened today when it was learned Defiance will carry a freak rig. She will have no jib topsail or balloon and her spinnaker will hang from the masthead. By this device Defiance will get a time allowance from Vanitie and will have to allow Resolute only a few seconds though Defiance is much the larger boat. This scheme to reduce boat's rating has never before been attempted in a spin off of Defiance's size.

George Owen, designer of Defiance, expects her to walk away from her two rivals when sailing into the eye of the wind. If she fails to do so, however, it is generally believed by yachting men that her chances on other tacks will be slim.

NELSONS IN WIN OVER LYNXVILLE

Score Shutout with Squires Throwing Air-tight Ball; Errors Let In One Run

Two runs on two hits and two errors gave the Nelson Clothing company baseball team a shutout victory over the fast Lynxville team yesterday at League park. Brown, throwing for the down river men, pitched shutout ball, except in the third inning, when the Nelsons bunched two singles, which with a sacrifice fly by Wall, netted the north side men their second and only earned run of the game. The first tally was made by a succession of errors by Lynxville. Nelson cut off a hit by scooping a Texas leaguer off F. Vandervelt's bat in the seventh inning. Squires allowed six hits. Lynxville staged a near rally in the ninth, when Brown singled over second and stole second. Withee singled and A. Vandervelt grounded, forcing Brown at third. S. Brown struck out and F. WATER AT SPARTA
AT FLOOD HEIGHT

Heavy Rains of Saturday Recall Old Rain Storms and Lumber Yard Is Also Flooded

SPARTA, Wis., June 8.—(Special.)—High water, due to the heavy rains of last Saturday night, wrought havoc in the coal and lumber yard of the Brittingham and Hix-on Lumber company, near the spur track of the Milwaukee road at East avenue.

The water commenced to rise soon after the last heavy shower Saturday evening, and in a short time the whole bottom land on either side of the river was a seething torrent. The high water recalled to many the disastrous flood in Sparta seven years ago this summer, during which several bridges, a barn and portions of the spur track were washed away. The water stayed at flood height all day yesterday, only receding within the banks of the La Crosse river late last night.

Rural streams in the vicinity also reached flood height, and in some places the water washed out bridges. Lumber and wood piles in the lumber yard were dislodged, and in order to save the lumber manager Murwin of the lumber yard was obliged to gather a force of a dozen men and wade into the flood and haul the timber out high on the bank to a place of safety.

ILLINI WALK AWAY WITH TRACK MEET

Leland Stanford Second, Chicago Third and Wisconsin Fourth; Records Go; Wahl Stars

CHICAGO, June 8.—With the top-heavy score of 45 7-12 points, athletes wearing the orange and blue of Illinois won for the second time in succession the conference track championship on Saturday.

From start to finish the Illini were leaders, and it remained for a non-conference team, the squad from Leland Stanford, to give Gill's men their only fight.

Only one record fell, and that went to Henderson of Illinois, who with Bingham of Denver tied for several point honors with ten. In the half mile, perhaps the most exciting event of the day, Henderson sped over the cinders in 1:55 3-5, breaking the record set by Ira Davenport of Chicago in 1:56 3-5. Three Illini's national champions took the relay in 23 1-5, tying the conference record made by Stanford in 1910.

Henderson took the quarter mile in addition to the half, beating his team mate, Captain Candors.

Bingham Takes Discus. Bingham did the expected in the discus, his heave of 129 feet seven inches, giving him the victory, and won another five points in the hammer throw with a mark of 142 feet three inches. Alone he put Denver in fifth place.

A south wind blew in the faces of the dash men and hurdlers and spoiled any chance they had for new records. During the two mile run, and while most of the field events were in progress a heavy rain storm swept the field.

Great Race to Wilson. A great race by Wilson of Stanford won him the mile run. Campbell of Chicago took the lead in this event but Wilson was close on his heels when the midway man ended the first lap.

Then Carroll of Ohio hopped to the front, but Wilson did not lose, staying right behind the leader and finally on the third lap shot to the front.

Then Campbell started to sprint, passing Carroll and Wilson, both rounding the turn into the stretch just two strides ahead of the coast man.

With victory almost in his grasp, the Maroon was forced into third place when Wilson spurred like a shot into the lead and Harvey of Wisconsin won the place, just as the three crossed the tape.

Wall of Wisconsin took the big jump with 5 feet 11 inches. In an exhibition later he made 6 feet 1 1/2 inches, setting a new conference record.

How They Finished. Illinois, 47 7-12 points; Leland, 28 1-8; Chicago, 20 1-8; Wisconsin, 19 1-4; Denver, 10; Colorado, 7-12; California, 6; Purdue, 5 1-3; Ohio State, 4 2-3; Northwestern, 4 1-3; Minnesota, 3; Notre Dame, 3; Iowa, 2 1-2; Lake Forest, 2; Coe, 2; Drake, 2; Missouri, 2; Kansas, 2; Oberlin, 1-3; Nebraska, 1-4.

CLOUT PUTS OUT
BRITISH CAPTAIN

Leader of English Polo Team Will Not Start in the First Game Tomorrow

NEW YORK, June 8.—Badly shaken by a smashed nose received in practice, Captain Leslie St. George Cheape, England's famous No. 2 in the international polo team will not be able to play tomorrow in the first game for the international trophy at Meadowbrook.

This information was given the United Press today at Piping Rock club by Lord Wimborne, backer of the British team.

Captain Cheape positively will not be able to play tomorrow," said Lord Wimborne. "I do not know whether I or John Traill will substitute. That is not decided yet. I cannot discuss Captain Cheape's condition further."

Lord Wimborne's statement was a big surprise. Cheape's absence from the lineup for the first game is believed greatly to weaken the challengers. Lord Wimborne, while heavier, and John Traill, while also a No. 1 player, both lack Cheape's remarkable ability to drive and ride.

While Lord Wimborne and Cheape himself refused to go into details it is known that Cheape's eyes were blackened when a back hand stroke from the mallet of H. C. Phipps drove the ball into Cheape's face.

WORK SUNDAYS TO GET IN THE WHEAT

DALLAS, Tex., June 8.—Harvesting of wheat went on all of Sunday in many of the districts of Oklahoma, Texas and the southwest, where the farmers in some instances are co-operating because of lack of harvest hands. Oklahoma and the Texas pan-handle grain belts were complaining today of a shortage of men. Railroads and chambers of commerce have opened special employment offices, while business men in many villages have closed their shops and donated a day's work to the farmers. Unless high winds and heavy rains spoil the ripened grain prospects are bright for bumper crops.

The robbery was committed in broad daylight. Shortly before noon one of the strangers entered the office of the Singer Sewing Machine company and purchased a bottle of oil, tendering a $20 bill in payment that he might see where the money was kept.

An hour later, when the bookkeeper was alone in the office, the other stranger came in and inquired

FOR OUTING WEAR AND SPORTS THE SEVERE TAILORED NOTE IS STILL THE THING

Outing clothes are very important to the smart wardrobe this season, whether one is inclined to athletics or not.

The materials most favored for sports coats, walking skirts, etc., are eponge, cote de Cheval, heavy chevilot, the corded cottons and various novelty weaves among the heavier cottons; linen of course is always good for tennis skirts and tailored blouses.

Where the suit displays strictly tailored lines one often notes a waistcoat of white pique, of printed cote de Cheval, or a stiffly starched collar of linen or pique.

In the riding suit shown in number 7433-8356, the material used is black whipcord, the vest and stock are of white pique, the skirt is cut in eight gces, has a panel front which may be turned back and buttoned as illustrated. The back of the skirt is stitched to simulate an inverted box-plot.

To make this suit in size 36, 34 yards of 42-inch material is needed for the coat (7433) and 4 1/2 yards for the same width for the skirt (8356). An excellent model for a play dress is shown in number 8372; it is a peasant design with elbow sleeves and applied box-plaits. There is an attractive little pointed collar and belt that may be worn at high or low waistline.

A heavy white linen is used here with the belt of patent leather. For a child of eight, 3 yards of 36-inch material is needed.

Number 7433 sizes 34 to 44. Number 8356 sizes 22 to 34. Number 8372 sizes 4 to 12.

Top, Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Winters. Bottom, Catherine Winters and Mayor J. L. Watkins.

CASE GOES OVER.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Judge Foell today postponed until Friday at 10 a. m. the hearing of arguments on the petition of attorneys for the Federal league for an injunction to prevent Fred Blanding from playing with the Cleveland Naps, Blanding having signed a Federal league contract before going to Cleveland.

Breeding Minks for Fur.

A contribution to the growing industry of fur farming has been undertaken by the U. S. Biological Survey in the shape of experiments in breeding minks for size, quality of fur and disposition. A mink farm has been started near Prichard, Idaho, in the Coeur d'Alene National Forest, and similar experiments are under way in the National Zoological Park in Washington, D. C.

Strange, indeed!

"For the making of billiard-balls five hundred elephants are needed every year," said the famous big game hunter in his lecture on India. "How strange," whispered Mrs. Winsome to the lady who sat next, "that people can teach such great beasts to do such delicate work!"

When the Flea Flew.

It is probable that the ancestors of the fleas were winged insects, and that the organs of flight were gradually lost as they became useless, when a partially parasitic life was adopted.

FOREIGN MARKETS

New York Stocks.

NEW YORK, June 8.—While the market was quiet and prices generally were fractionally under Saturday's close, stocks at the opening acted fairly well considering the sharp rise of late Saturday. Steel today opened 1-4 down at 61 7/8, but quickly rallied to 62. New Haven opened off 1-8 at 65 3-4.

Noon—The market appeared to gather strength due to the withdrawal of Tampico blockade orders by Dictator Huerta. There was a rally in Lehigh Valley and New Haven. Steel strengthened, also.

At noon the market was quiet although strong.

2 p. m.—The market was decidedly inactive during the early afternoon, but encouragement ruled because even with the dullness prices ruled firm.

The stock market closed firm.

Chicago Grain Review

CHICAGO, June 8.—Wheat was steady for July and a shade higher for September at the start today on account of a slightly higher cable, but the market eased off toward noon, July closing 1/4 c. Trade was light in anticipation of the government crop report, due after the close this afternoon.

Corn was again strong and higher, starting with an advance of 3/4 to 1/2 c because of higher cables. Buying was strong all morning and July gained an additional 1/4 c.

Oats had a firm understone, partly because of the bulge in corn. Commission houses rushed to buy and prices were 3/4 c higher.

The provision market ignored lower hog prices and in a quiet market prices shaded higher.

Wheat eased off a fraction in the afternoon the other grains closing at about noon prices. Pork advanced sharply in the afternoon and all provision futures were strong at the close.

SUPPLY OF RADIUM NOW AT MILWAUKEE

$110,000 Worth of Cancer
Cure Arrives in State, Largest Amount in the Country

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 8.—Radium valued at $110,000, to be used in the treatment of cancer, arrived in Milwaukee yesterday. It was delivered to Dr. Oscar A. Strauss, who is to head the new American Radium hospital to be established here. The precious metal is in ten tubes, each tube containing from twenty-five to fifty milligrams of radium, totaling 500 milligrams in all. Each tube is enclosed in a separate case. In this case is a small steel tube lined with lead. In this is another silver tube and inside this tube is a small glass vial containing the radium salt. It is not imposing as to looks, but a reporter was warned by Dr. Strauss not to hold it anywhere near his eyes. Why not? asked the reporter.

"The rays might blind you," said the doctor. "And then, too, if you held that tube in your hand for any length of time, in a few days it would look as though it had been burned. For that's what radium does in reality."

The arrival of the radium here means that Milwaukee will be the cynosure of the eyes of the medical world for some time to come. The fact that radium cures cancer has been established and Milwaukee has got the largest amount of radium in this country. It was collected from all over Europe and exhausts the supply for two years to come.

The institution at which it will be used will be situated on a lake shore site. The property is to be purchased or leased tomorrow. Dr. Strauss said yesterday that one of three places will be chosen and remodeled immediately.

In fact it is hoped to have the institution opened by the latter part of the week.

STEVENSON NO BETTER.

CHICAGO, June 8.—The condition of Adlai E. Stevenson, former vice president of the United States showed no improvement.

MAY HASTEN MARRIAGE

MADISON, Wis., June 8.—A county judge may authorize a marriage without the customary wait of five days after the issuing of a license if the parents or guardians of the female request him to do so, according to an opinion of Attorney General Walter C. Owen to District Attorney S. G. Dunwiddie of Rock county, today.

Fishing may be contagious, but it is not always catching.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Thickness
and Lustre at Once

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant; remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.

For sale and recommended by O. T. Erhart.

GOVERNORS' MEET HELD IN THE FALL

Is to Be Postponed from June to November So
More State Officers
Can Attend

MADISON, Wis., June 8.—That the postponement of the Governors' conference from June to November will result in a larger attendance of governors from the various states is indicated from letters received by Miles C. Riley, secretary of the Governors' conference. With two possible exceptions all of the governors heard from will attend. Many of the governors who had previously written that they would be unable to attend the conference in June, now write that they will be able to come in November. There seems to be unanimity of opinion among them that the delay of the conference was both wise and necessary.

"My experience in attendance upon previous conferences has produced the conclusion that during campaign years the conference should be held following the November election," writes ex-Governor Edwin Norris of Montana, "that is to say some time during the latter part of November or the early part of December."

"Any time between the tenth and last day of November will be perfectly agreeable to me for this conference to be held," declares Governor Adolph O. Eberhart of Minnesota in his letter.

Governor L. B. Hanna of North Dakota writes that, "I do not know of any reason now why I could not be at Madison between the tenth and last day of November." Had the conference been held in June Governor Hanna would not have been able to attend.

"It is impossible for me to say whether or not I will be able to attend between the tenth and last day of November," declares Governor S. V. Stewart of Montana. "However, I presume that the time will be as convenient as any other."

"I believe it will be convenient for me to attend the conference any time between the tenth and last day of November," writes Governor Edward F. Dunne of Illinois.

"I feel confident that you have done a wise thing," declares Woodbridge N. Ferris, governor of Michigan. "I shall be very glad to make my plans with reference to attending this meeting."

"I cannot now foretell my engagements for that time but I should be greatly pleased to attend should my engagements permit," writes ex-Gov. ernor Charles F. Denison of Illinois.

Many other letters, along the same general line, have been received from other governors.

MADISON, Wis., June 8.—Fire believed to be of incendiary origin, destroyed the boathouse of Frank A. Starck on Lake Monona, destroying the largest and most valuable launch plying the Madison lakes. Two other launches also were destroyed. This launch was destroyed by fire. The loss of the launch is estimated at $2,500.

RESOLUTE WINS.

LARCHMONT, N. Y., June 8.—The fourth of the brushes between contenders for the honor of defending the international cup was staged off here today. Resolute crossed the first starting line at 1:17. The Vanitie swept across twelve seconds later. The day was a splendid one for the races and spectators were out in force.

This will be granted.

RACINE, Wis., June 8.—Fred Esmus, a brakeman who contributed to the delinquency of a thirteen year old school girl, and Charles Foster, the hotel clerk who rented him a room, were each found guilty and sentenced to one hundred days at hard labor in the county jail.

Until he gets married, a man may labor under the impression that it takes two to make an argument.

Both men were Austrian laborers and had been drinking. Wasgavitz disappeared after the accident, being seen going west. Both he and the injured man are married. Their families are in Austria.

He will pay taxes on a total valuation of $10,325 personal property, while the Commoner (weekly paper) is listed as possession personal property worth $6,616.

DROPSY AND BRIGHTS DISEASE

Nearly everybody knows that when the dropsy comes so fast in Bright's disease that the patient has to be tapped that the case is hopeless so far as the old treatment is concerned. We never heard of a case recovering that required tapping until Fulton's Renal Compound was evolved. Under the Renal Compound recoveries are frequently reported even in this supposed hopeless stage. We cite two cases:

F. H. Chandler of Clay, New York, presented a serious case. As high as four quarts of water were drawn at a tapping. He was put on Fulton's Renal Compound and a year thereafter had resumed employment.

Another—Patient six years old, the son of A. C. Dean of Oakland, Cal., was tapped eight times; even had to be tapped after being put on Fulton's Renal Compound, but the tapplings grew further apart and he made a recovery and was going to school at last advices.

The ability of Fulton's Renal Compound to oppose Renal degeneration and reduce albumen in many cases of Bright's disease is not a matter of opinion but a FACT IN PHYSICS, and we will mail formula for albumen test that will show the percentage from week to week. As the albumen declines improvement commonly follows, recoveries having been reported in thousands of cases. Formula and literature mailed on request. John J. Fulton Co. For sale at druggists.
